Our behavioral health crisis team is available at the Townsend Emergency Medical Center at Day Kimball Hospital 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide expert, compassionate care to individuals of all ages who are experiencing a psychiatric crisis, with assessments performed between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. Individuals in crisis may seek these services on their own, or be accompanied by a family member, friend, emergency medical service personnel, or police.

The behavioral health crisis team is comprised of masters- or doctorate-prepared, licensed clinicians who are skilled in providing short-term support and stabilization in order to manage the crisis.

A dedicated behavioral health wing comprised of five beds in the Emergency Department provides a calmer, safer and private environment for behavioral health patients.

Clinicians will also arrange for appropriate follow-up services after the initial intervention, which may include inpatient treatment, referral to a partial hospital program or intensive outpatient program, or referral to our outpatient behavioral health program. Services will also be offered to family members of the individual affected, to ensure a comprehensive approach and continuity of care.
